EDWARD TENNER ♦ Wednesday, April 18

Why do our best intentions frequently lead to unexpected frustration? That is the question EDWARD TENNER poses in Why Things Bite Back: Technology and the Revenge of Unintended Consequences (1998). In a more recent book, Our Own Devices (2003), Mr. Tenner examines everyday objects (chairs, shoelaces, spectacles, and the like), and explores how they shape the ways in which we use our bodies. Mr. Tenner has written for The Atlantic, the New York Times, and the Washington Post, and he has addressed audiences in such settings as AT&T, the Institute for Advanced Study, Microsoft, Princeton, and the Smithsonian. He's now pondering Shakespeare's treatment of social inequality in plays like Coriolanus and King Lear. He's also relating literary studies to The Efficiency Paradox: What Big Data Can't Do (2018), and copies of his new volume on that intriguing topic will be on hand for purchase and inscription.

SIR RICHARD EYRE ♦ Tuesday, May 15

An artist renowned for his versatility, SIR RICHARD EYRE is the director whose London production of A Long Day's Journey into Night, with Jeremy Irons and Lesley Manville in starring roles, will soon be mesmerizing audiences at BAM's Harvey Theatre. His many books include an acclaimed memoir about his influential decade as head of the UK's National Theatre (1987-97), and his dozens of honors include five Olivier Awards. He has worked with playwrights Alan Bennett, David Hare, and Tom Stoppard, and with such stars as Eileen Atkins, Judi Dench, Ian Holm, Bob Hoskins, Daniel Day-Lewis, Ian McKellen, Vanessa Redgrave, and Paul Scofield. He has directed several operas and television series (among them Henry IV, Parts 1 and 2, and The Hollow Crown), and his award-winning films include Iris (starring Kate Winslet as Iris Murdoch), Notes on a Scandal, Stage Beauty, and The Other Man.

ADAM GOPNIK ♦ Thursday, June 14

In "The Poet's Hand," one of the most riveting New Yorker articles he's written, ADAM GOPNIK asks why "we still search for relics of the Bard." It's an intriguing question, and Mr. Gopnik focuses it on new developments with the potential to alter our perceptions of a playwright who seems just as vibrant today as he was at the peak of his career at the Globe. Best known for Paris to the Moon, Mr. Gopnik has also enriched our lives with Americans in Paris and The Table Comes First: France, Family, and the Meaning of Food. NAC audiences will recall that one of his recent titles, Angels and Ages: A Short Book about Darwin, Lincoln, and Modern Life, was hinted at during a conversation with Mr. Andrews that took place in 2008. Mr. Gopnik has recently tried his hand at writing for theatrical production, and that is likely to be one of the topics he explores in what promises to be another memorable gathering.
