

SAVORING THE CLASSICAL TRADITION IN DRAMA

ENGAGING PRESENTATIONS BY THE SHAKESPEARE GUILD
IN COLLABORATION WITH THE NATIONAL ARTS CLUB
AND THE NEW YORK BRANCH OF
THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION

HUGH HARDY ♦ Monday, November 17

A renowned Manhattan architect, HUGH HARDY has renovated spaces in such storied locations as Bryant Park, the New York Academy of Sciences, the New York Botanical Garden, the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, Radio City Music Hall, the Rainbow Room at Rockefeller Center, and the Windows on the World restaurant atop the World Trade Center. He's now at work on a Brooklyn complex to house Theatre for a New Audience. Among his many honors are the Distinguished Achievement Award in Theatre Design from the U.S. Institute for Theatre Technology and the Commissioner's Award for Excellence in Public Architecture from the General Services Administration. He is the author of Building Type Basics for Performing Arts Facilities, and he has been profiled in Architectural Record, Esquire, The New York Times, The New Yorker, Time, and a number of other significant periodicals.

NATIONAL ARTS CLUB

15 Gramercy Park South
Manhattan

Program 8:00 p.m.
Members $25 Others $30

GAIL KERN PASTER ♦ Monday, December 8

Widely respected for seminal articles and books (among them The Idea of the City in the Age of Shakespeare and The Body Embarrassed: Drama and the Disciplines of Shame in Early Modern England), GAIL KERN PASTER is the Editor of Shakespeare Quarterly, one of the most venerable journals in its field, and Director of the Folger Shakespeare Library on Capitol Hill. Known around the world for its incomparable collections on the playwright and his era, the Folger is one of America's cultural gems, a center not only for advanced scholarship but for such treasures as the Folger Consort (a Renaissance music ensemble), the Folger Theatre (a company that recently produced a Macbeth with the magician Teller thrilling audiences with amazing special effects in the title role), and the PEN/Faulkner Foundation (an institution whose fiction awards are among the most coveted laurels in literature).

NATIONAL ARTS CLUB

15 Gramercy Park South
Manhattan

Program 8:00 p.m.
Members $25 Others $30

RUSSELL JACKSON ♦ Monday, January 26

We enter 2009 with RUSSELL JACKSON, a textual advisor for several of Kenneth Branagh's theatre, film, and radio productions, among them Henry V, Hamlet, and As You Like It. Mr. Jackson has also worked with director Michael Grandage and with such actors as Chiwitöl Ejiofor (who won an Olivier Award for his 2007 Othello) and Sir Derek Jacobi (best known for his title character in I, Claudius). With Robert Smallwood, Mr. Jackson has edited two volumes of the Cambridge series Players of Shakespeare, in which RSC actors talk about their performances in major productions. With Jonathan Bate, he's edited and contributed to The Oxford Illustrated History of Shakespeare on Stage. He recently published Shakespeare Films in the Making, another volume with Cambridge University Press. A former Director of the Shakespeare Institute, Mr. Jackson now occupies an endowed chair at the University of Birmingham.

NATIONAL ARTS CLUB

15 Gramercy Park South
Manhattan

Program 8:00 p.m.
Members $25 Others $30

PATRICK STEWART Receives the 2008 GIELGUD AWARD at a Gala in New York

On Monday evening, March 10, in collaboration with the ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION and the NATIONAL ARTS CLUB, the SHAKESPEARE GUILD saluted Patrick Stewart with its 2008 GIELGUD AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN THE DRAMATIC ARTS. The event occurred in Manhattan, at a venerable 19th-century Gramercy Park brownstone that had once been owned by Samuel J. Tilden, a patriarch of the New York Public Library, a respected Governor of the Empire State, and a Democratic nominee for President of the United States who won the popular vote in 1876 but lost in a controversial disputed election to the Republicans' Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio.

For the better portion of a century the Tilden Mansion has been home to the NAC, and it was in this space that notables such as John Barrymore, Julia Marlowe, and Ashley H. Thorndike established the original Shakespeare Association of America in 1923 and began issuing what would eventually become Shakespeare Quarterly. Everyone thought it altogether fitting, then, that in a setting adjacent to another historic institution, a Players Club bequeathed to the acting profession by Edwin Booth, a stellar company of luminaries came together to extol an artist who has been described by Sir Ian McKellen as "one of the great Shakespearians of our time."

Unfortunately, Sir Ian, who had been the first thespian to be honored in Gielgud's name (at a 1996 gathering in Washington's FOLGER SHAKESPEARE LIBRARY) was unable to attend the ceremony. He sent a warm congratulatory message, however, in which he noted that anyone "familiar with the Wars of the Roses will appreciate how much it pains a Lancastrian, like me, to be nice about" a man with the "disadvantage of being born on the wrong side of the Pennine Hills." Notwithstanding this handicap, McKellen went on to say, he was compelled to acknowledge that he couldn't "think of another actor who works so hard and so consistently well in a wonderful variety of styles." He bestowed special praise on Mr. Stewart's recent performances in Bardic roles such as Macbeth, Malvolio, and Prospero. And he described his friend's 2006 Antony as "by a mile the best I've ever seen."

Similar accolades arrived from other recipients of GIELGUD laurels, among them Sir Derek Jacobi and Lynn Redgrave. One of the most touching came from Michael Kahn, Artistic Director of the Shakespeare Theatre Company in Washington, who had been feted in May 2007 at a BRITISH EMBASSY reception hosted by Sir David and Lady Manning. "It is remarkable and inspiring," Mr. Kahn said, "that after achieving recognition in Star Trek – making millions of fans, including the high and mighty in your own country – you chose to return to your roots in classical theatre. With imagination and an unflinching technique, you have investigated, inhabited, and indeed triumphed in most of the greatest and most challenging roles in the repertory."

In light of the auspices under which Mr. Kahn had himself been toasted, it seemed entirely apt that one of the most eloquent tributes to the 2008 GIELGUD awardee was delivered by Sir Nigel Sheinwald. Sir Nigel had succeeded Sir David Manning as Her Majesty's Ambassador to the United States in October 2007, and he expressed both pride and pleasure as he ascended the podium to extol the achievements that had made Patrick Stewart so popular and revered a figure on both sides of the Atlantic. As he did so, he reinforced many of the comments that had been transmitted by others who couldn't be on hand for the revels.

Among the remarks he echoed was a testimonial from Peter Holland, Professor of English at the University of Notre Dame, Editor of Shakespeare Survey, and former Director of the Shakespeare Institute in Stratford-upon-Avon. Dr. Holland talked about the work that Mr. Stewart did as a key founder of ACTER: A Center for Theatre, Education, and Research, an enterprise inaugurated by Dr Homer Swander at the University of California in Santa Barbara. Beginning in the 1970s, Stewart and dozens of his RSC associates helped organize and took part in tours of American educational institutions. During week-long residencies that brought talents like Lisa Harrow, Ben Kingsley, Ian Richardson, and David Suchet into classrooms and auditoriums from one coast to the other, Mr. Stewart and his colleagues revolutionized the teaching of dramatic literature, not only in the United States but, in ways that could not have been anticipated, throughout the world. As a result they transformed the way Shakespeare and other playwrights were approached in the study, in rehearsal, and in production. Because of their efforts, theatre and film artists, scholars, critics, and playgoers are now engaging in sophisticated forms of practice and discourse that would have been unimaginable a few decades earlier.

Mr. Stewart's impact as an inspiring educator became even clearer when Vice-Chancellor Robert Cryan talked about how much the actor has done to support the instructional programs of his alma mater, the University of Huddersfield in Yorkshire, where he now serves both as Chancellor and as an active Professor of Performing Arts. Not only did Dr. Cryan emphasize the philanthropy with which his colleague is providing opportunities to students who, more often than not, are the first in their families to experience the benefits of higher learning. He went on to discuss a number of Mr. Stewart's other civic engagements, among them his endeavors as Honorary Patron of Refuge, the UK's leading charity to assist the victims of domestic violence. According to Sandra Horsley, who heads this agency, Stewart has been a strong advocate of its mission since the early '70s, when "he carried armfuls of clothes and household goods to help equip its very first safe house in West London. Hundreds of women and children flocked to it because, for the first time, someone was saying it was wrong to beat your partner."

Stewart aficionados at the NAC were treated to a similar message from William F. Schulz, who had retired in 2006 after an eventful and highly productive decade as Executive Director of Amnesty International USA. Opening with a speech from Claudio in Act III of Measure for Measure (“The miserable have no other medicine, but only hope”), Mr. Schulz said “It strikes me that this line captures perfectly all that you have given to the human rights movement over the past twenty or more years.” After enumerating several of Mr. Stewart’s extraordinary contributions, Mr. Schulz told him that what made each of them particularly significant was that “you didn’t have to do any of these things.” The lesson they all conveyed, he said, was “that by the very lending of your time, you were sending a profound message: that valuable as celebrity and honor may be, they pale in comparison to generosity of heart, and that, in the face of tears and torture and tragedy, you chose to cast your lot not with the mighty but with the miserable. Your voice and your presence, the gifts that have made you a world-class actor, gave them hope. If for no other reason than that, you deserve the great honor you receive tonight.”

For most of the gala’s attendees, Patrick Stewart’s efforts in these spheres were unfamiliar. But it soon became evident that none of his charitable activities were incompatible with those which had always guided him in roles that are better known to the fans of Jean-Luc Picard, Charles Xavier, Captain Ahab, and other personae. The festivities commenced with warm greetings from O. Aldon James, President of the NATIONAL ARTS CLUB, and from Marguerite Yaghjian, head of the NAC’s Shakespeare Committee. These leaders were followed by Barbara O’Dwyer Lopez, Executive Director of the ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION OF NEW YORK, and by John Andrews, President of the SHAKESPEARE GUILD. Attendees also heard witty comments from Whoopi Goldberg, who talked about how much fun she’d had during her guest appearances on Star Trek: The Next Generation. Everyone smiled as actor Joel Grey sang a ditty from Cabaret (for which he had won both a Tony and an Oscar) and as television producer Robert Halmi Jr. reminisced about memorable moments from a TV rendering of Dickens’ A Christmas Carol in which Grey had represented the Ghost of Christmas Past and Mr. Stewart had portrayed Ebenezer Scrooge.

Patrons were touched by the ardor that pianist Emanuel Ax brought to his recollections about how thrilling it had been to team up with Stewart for a concert at Hollywood Bowl and at other legendary venues. Mr. Ax observed that one of their special performances of Richard Strauss’s Enoch Arden had been recorded, and he said he was hoping for an encore recital in the near future at Carnegie Hall. Attendees cheered, along with the actress’s fellow cast members, as a beauty who had been lauded by New York Times critic Ben Brantley as “the fine, fierce Kate Fleetwood” saluted the Thane with whom she’d enjoyed so many ovations as Lady Macbeth. In a Scottish Play that had been directed by Ms. Fleetwood’s husband Rupert Goold, the company had earned several Olivier nominations at the Gielgud Theatre in London and a comparable array of Tony nods for the Lyceum transfer that resulted from the show’s sold-out initial American run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Everyone was moved by the fervor with which F. Murray Abraham praised the conviction Mr. Stewart had brought to a pivotal moment in his Broadway rendering of a role that Mr. Abraham had originated Off Broadway in Arthur Miller’s A Ride Down Mount Morgan. The audience chuckled as the awardee’s son Daniel Stewart, himself a stage and screen actor with a number of impressive credits and a very promising future, recounted some of his favorite boyhood memories, several of which illustrated the difficulties a typical English family had endured as it sought to make ends meet in the days before one of Gene Roddenberry’s subordinates happened to attend a one-man show by a visiting RSC performer in the mid-’80s at UCLA. Finally, everyone relished the perspective that David Jones brought, both to his four decades of association with the awardee, many of them during the glory days of the celebrated Aldwych Theatre on the perimeter of Covent Garden, and to his admiration for Sir John Gielgud and for all he’d done to keep Shakespeare and other classics vibrant during what is universally regarded as a golden age for modern British drama. A gifted film and TV director with The Trial, Betrayal, and 84 Charing Cross Road among his many accomplishments, Mr. Jones had unveiled a star in Mr. Stewart’s honor on Hollywood Boulevard. For this reason the audience was enormously grateful for his willingness to bestow the 2008 GIELGUD AWARD on Mr. Stewart.

Among the many highlights of the gala was the thoughtfulness, charm, and humility with Mr. Stewart thanked those who’d participated in what he described as an unforgettable evening. In a note the following day he told those who’d arranged a joyful get-together that “nothing like this” had “ever happened” to him before. Like him, the SHAKESPEARE GUILD is immensely indebted to those who did so much to make a lovely occasion successful. Above all the Guild wishes to single out actor Clive Francis, whose many delightful caricatures include a limited-edition print to commemorate the 1996 ceremony at which Sir John Gielgud was inducted into Britain’s august Order of Merit. He inscribed a few of those portraits, and Mr. Francis has generously donated them for presentation to those selected for what David Jones tellingly commended as one of the most prestigious distinctions in the performing arts.

hoping for an encore recital in the near future at Carnegie Hall.

Attendees cheered, along with the actress’s fellow cast members, as a beauty who had been lauded by New York Times critic Ben Brantley as “the fine, fierce Kate Fleetwood” saluted the Thane with whom she’d enjoyed so many ovations as Lady Macbeth. In a Scottish Play that had been directed by Ms. Fleetwood’s husband Rupert Goold, the company had earned several Olivier nominations at the Gielgud Theatre in London and a comparable array of Tony nods for the Lyceum transfer that resulted from the show’s sold-out initial American run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Everyone was moved by the fervor with which F. Murray Abraham praised the conviction Mr. Stewart had brought to a pivotal moment in his Broadway rendering of a role that Mr. Abraham had originated Off Broadway in Arthur Miller’s A Ride Down Mount Morgan. The audience chuckled as the awardee’s son Daniel Stewart, himself a stage and screen actor with a number of impressive credits and a very promising future, recounted some of his favorite boyhood memories, several of which illustrated the difficulties a typical English family had endured as it sought to make ends meet in the days before one of Gene Roddenberry’s subordinates happened to attend a one-man show by a visiting RSC performer in the mid-’80s at UCLA.

Finally, everyone relished the perspective that David Jones brought, both to his four decades of association with the awardee, many of them during the glory days of the celebrated Aldwych Theatre on the perimeter of Covent Garden, and to his admiration for Sir John Gielgud and for all he’d done to keep Shakespeare and other classics vibrant during what is universally regarded as a golden age for modern British drama. A gifted film and TV director with The Trial, Betrayal, and 84 Charing Cross Road among his many accomplishments, Mr. Jones had unveiled a star in Mr. Stewart’s honor on Hollywood Boulevard. For this reason the audience was enormously grateful for his willingness to bestow the 2008 GIELGUD AWARD on Mr. Stewart.

Among the many highlights of the gala was the thoughtfulness, charm, and humility with Mr. Stewart thanked those who’d participated in what he described as an unforgettable evening. In a note the following day he told those who’d arranged a joyful get-together that “nothing like this” had “ever happened” to him before.

Like him, the SHAKESPEARE GUILD is immensely indebted to those who did so much to make a lovely occasion successful. Above all the Guild wishes to single out actor Clive Francis, whose many delightful caricatures include a limited-edition print to commemorate the 1996 ceremony at which Sir John Gielgud was inducted into Britain’s august Order of Merit. He inscribed a few of those portraits, and Mr. Francis has generously donated them for presentation to those selected for what David Jones tellingly commended as one of the most prestigious distinctions in the performing arts.

Join the Guild, and Greet the Stars EVENTS IN LONDON, NEW YORK, AND WASHINGTON

If you attended A SHAKESPEAREAN REVEL AT LINCOLN CENTER a few Junes back, you relished such personalities as actors JOHN CLEESE, KITTY CARLISLE HART, DANA IVEY, and TONY RANDALL, writer ADAM GOPNIK, and directors BERNARD GERSTEN and MARGOT HARLEY in a toast to KEVIN KLINE as the 2002 recipient of the GIELGUD AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN THE

DRAMATIC ARTS. It was a joyous occasion, but like its predecessors, and like its sequel a year later with LYNN REDGRAVE as GIELGUD laureate and with her brother CORIN and her sister VANESSA as presenters at the NATIONAL ARTS CLUB, it was also substantive, with scintillating remarks not only about the honoree's achievements but about the heritage they illustrate. In this respect it echoed a May 1999 presentation at Broadway's BARRYMORE THEATRE, where ZOE CALDWELL, who had won the 1998 GOLDEN QUILL at the FOLGER SHAKESPEARE LIBRARY, led a parade of theatrical celebrities – actors KEITH BAXTER, BRIAN BEDFORD, HAL HOLBROOK, RONALD PICKUP, CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER, and TOBY STEPHENS, playwright Sir DAVID HARE, director Sir RICHARD EYRE, Masterpiece Theatre producer REBECCA EATON, and news host ROBERT MACNEIL – in a sparkling tribute to Dame JUDI DENCH. A few months later Dame JUDI and another GIELGUD honoree, Sir DEREK JACOBI, were among the hosts for a January 2000 presentation to performer, director, and filmmaker KENNETH BRANAGH in London's historic MIDDLE TEMPLE HALL. This Bardic SALUTE TO "THE MAN OF THE MILLENNIUM" featured vignettes by U.S. Ambassador PHILIP LADER, composer PATRICK DOYLE, and actors SAMANTHA BOND, RICHARD BRIERS, HELENA BONHAM CARTER, RICHARD CLIFFORD, BEN ELTON, STEPHEN FRY, BOB HOSKINS, GERALDINE MCEWAN, and TIMOTHY SPALL.

On April 19, 2004, in the London theatre that had been renamed for Sir John in 1994, a few months after the SHAKESPEARE GUILD unveiled a gleaming JOHN SAFER trophy to perpetuate a gifted actor's legacy "with golden quill" (Sonnet 85), the Guild combined forces with the ROYAL SHAKESPEARE COMPANY and the ROYAL ACADEMY OF DRAMATIC ART for a celebration of the centenary of Sir John's birth. In an evening that was hosted by the BBC's NED SHERRIN, playwrights ALAN BENNETT and Sir DAVID HARE, director Sir PETER HALL, and actors Dame JUDI DENCH, CLIVE FRANCIS, ROSEMARY HARRIS, MARTIN JARVIS, BARBARA JEFFORD, BARBARA LEIGH-HUNT, Sir IAN MCKELLEN, MICHAEL PENNINGTON, RONALD PICKUP, PAUL SCOFIELD, and Sir DONALD SINDEN commended their late-departed friend. On June 12, 2006, the GUILD returned to the NATIONAL ARTS CLUB for a Manhattan salute to CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER, who was toasted by JULIE ANDREWS, ZOE CALDWELL, CLIVE FRANCIS, NAC President ALDON JAMES, ROBERT MACNEIL, AUDRA McDONALD, and LYNN REDGRAVE. A few months later, on May 21, 2007, the GUILD joined the ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION at the BRITISH EMBASSY in Washington for a reception at which Sir DAVID AND LADY MANNING, JUSTICE RUTH BADER GINSBURG, performers HELEN CAREY and TED VAN GRIETHUYSEN, and other notables feted MICHAEL KAHN, artistic director of the SHAKESPEARE THEATRE COMPANY, for his contributions to the cultural life of the Nation's Capital.

In recent years, through events in locales such as the NATIONAL PRESS CLUB in D.C., the CHICAGO SHAKESPEARE THEATER in Illinois, and the ALGONQUIN HOTEL in New York, GUILD attendees have chatted with actors JANE ALEXANDER, SIMON RUSSELL BEALE, HENRY GOODMAN, BILL IRWIN, MICHAEL LEARNED, ROGER REES, PRUNELLA SCALES, JANET SUZMAN, TIMOTHY WEST, and MICHAEL YORK, directors PETER BROOK and ROBERT WHITEHEAD, media leaders COKIE ROBERTS, SUSAN STAMBERG, and LINDA WERTHEIMER, and writers EDWARD ALBEE, E. R. BRAITHWAITE, Sir HAROLD EVANS, MICHAEL FRAYN, STEPHEN GREENBLATT, ANTHONY HECHT, KEN LUDWIG, JUDITH MARTIN, PETER SHAFFER, JAMES SHAPIRO, DEBORAH TANNEN, and GARRY WILLS. GUILD constituents enjoy member prices at all SPEAKING engagements. In addition, those who affiliate with the GUILD as SUBSCRIBERS receive 15% discounts on tickets for our annual GIELGUD GALA. CONTRIBUTORS enjoy 20% discounts on GIELGUD tickets, DONORS 25%, and BENEFACTORS 30%. PATRONS receive 4 prime tickets free, and 35% reductions on additional tickets. SUSTAINERS receive 10 prime tickets free, and 40% reductions on additional tickets. Members of the GIELGUD CIRCLE are entitled to 20 prime tickets, and 50% reductions on additional tickets. Any payments that are not offset by benefits claimed are fully tax-deductible.

I wish _ to make a tax-deductible donation, or _ to enroll as a GUILD member in the _ SUBSCRIBER ($50), _ CONTRIBUTOR ($125), _ DONOR ($250), _ BENEFACTOR ($500), _ PATRON ($1,000), _ SUSTAINER ($2,500), _ GIELGUD CIRCLE ($5,000) category. Please reserve _ space(s) at $25, _ space(s) at $30, for Nov. 17, _ space(s) at $25, _ space(s) at $30, for Dec. 8, and _ space(s) at $25, _ space(s) at $30, for Jan. 26. Enclosed is a check for $ _____. Charge $ ____ to _ AMERICAN EXPRESS _ MASTERCARD _ VISA account _____ (____/____).

Name _____

Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

Phone, Fax, E-Mail _____

The information requested in this order form can be submitted by phone, fax, or e-mail if you'd prefer. GUILD contact details appear to the right.

Presenter of the GIELGUD AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN THE DRAMATIC ARTS Established in 1994 to Honor Sir John and to Perpetuate his Legacy

5B CALLE SAN MARTIN
SANTA FE, NM 87506-7536

JOHN F. ANDREWS OBE, President

Phone (505) 988-9560 OR (202) 483-8646

shakesguild@msn.com

Fax (505) 983-0806

www.esuwdc.org/shakespeare.html

Founded in 1987 and operational since 1994, The Shakespeare Guild is a global nonprofit corporation that celebrates, and endeavors to cultivate larger and more appreciative audiences for, the dramatist who has been applauded in one society after another as our most reliable guide to the mileposts of life.